Texas Training Seminar — A Success

Twenty-seven manufacturers' representatives were in attendance at the PFS Training Seminar held at the Crowne Plaza in Arlington, Texas, on November 2 and 3, 2006.

"It was a great success," Bob Gorleski, PFS Field Service Representative, told Encore, "thanks to the caliber of speakers presenting topics of interest to the factory-built construction industry."

A full half-day was dedicated to Significant Changes in the International and Residential Building Code 2006 Edition, presented by Hamid Naderi, PE, Senior Staff Engineer of the International Code Council, Austin, Texas.

At right: Mr. Naderi accepts a donation from PFS to Save the Grandpa Farm Account, which is an account set up by the ICC for a colleague's wife who is battling a terminal illness.

The colleague and his wife have adopted children with special needs over the years. The children call him "Grandpa" hence, the name Grandpa Farm.

PFS was pleased to contribute to this worthy cause in honor of the generous couple who opened their home and hearts to these children.

Donated funds will benefit the children who live at the "Grandpa Farm."

Michael Weitzel (right), Codes and Standards Specialist, International Association of Electrical Inspectors, Richardson, Texas, thoroughly reviewed the Residential Inspection Checklist based on the National Electrical Code 2002 with 2005 Updates.

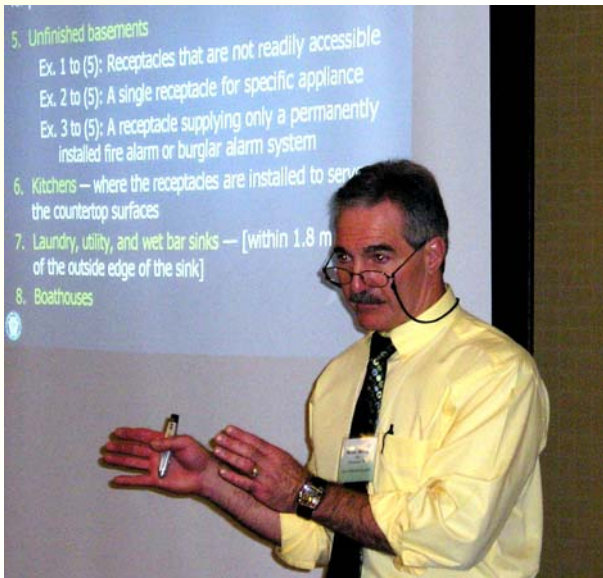

Texas Residential Energy Code Compliance for Factory-Built Structures, and Building Site Inspections for Texas Factory-Built Structures were presented by Donna Lipke of the Texas Industrialized Housing and Buildings Program.

Eugene Humphrey, Jr. (left) and Scott Barnes of the Fire Marshall's Office, Mississippi Insurance Department, Jackson, Mississippi, discussed State Codes and Plan Review Requirements for Factory-Built Structures in Mississippi.

Certification Label Requirements and Internet Access Using Project Manager were reviewed by Catherine Putnam, General Manager Label Control at PFS.

Bob Gorleski discussed Data Plate Requirements for the South Central Region manufacturers.

PFS Seminar No. 75 for Inspectors, Trainees and Maintenance of In-Plant Inspectors is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, January 18 and 19, 2007, at the Atherton Hotel, State College, Pennsylvania.
